

RT - Foundation

gives support to children in Africa who became orphans by aids.

In Africa more than 12 million children have lost their parents by aids.

Many of them had to care for their own parents up to death, had to leave school to care for their younger brothers and sisters. They are suffering from malnutrition and sometimes from exploitation and abuse.

Small children who have lost their mother by Aids are in danger themselves.

The RT-Foundation gives support to projects in Malawi.

Malawi

is one of the poorest countries in Africa.

53% of the population live beneath povertyline

There is a high infant mortality and a high HIV infection rate.

Child labour is to be found in large sections. In some regions the mostly whole generation of parents has died. Nearly 600 000 orphans live here in extended families or village communities. For many of them it is hardly possible to manage this situation.

The RT-Foundation

gives support to projects, that care for:

- sufficient nutrition
- psychological support
- medical care
- support by children corners
- schools
- education and development
- consultancy and prevention

The foundation

is named after two protestant theologians:
Klaus Rudolph and Jens-W. Taeger.

Beyond the grave, they are in closeness,
with the opinion they share:
to follow the gospel
means to take care in responsibility.
Name and purpose of the foundation shall document this.

Trustee of the foundation is KINDERNOTHILFE

The RTFoundation is registered as of benefit to the public
